<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Hybrid	<input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Distance Education

If any portion of the instruction in a proposed or existing course or course section is designed to be provided through distance education in lieu of face-to-face interaction between instructor and student, the course shall be separately reviewed and approved according to the district's adopted course approval procedures. [Title V & 55206]

Address the following questions:*A. Need/Justification

1. What is the intent in offering the course by distance education?

Presentation through distance education will meet the needs of nontraditional students, especially those who work full time or have irregular work schedules. It may provide the opportunity to supplement face-to-face meetings with Web-based distance education to provide flexibility and increased satisfaction in the course.

2. How will learning be enhanced by the use of distance education technology?

Supplementing face-to-face contact with distance education will provide new opportunities for the students to learn. Web-based courses also allow the facilitator to offer experiences that address various learning styles and capacities. Students who need more time outside of the traditional classroom to process thoughts and ideas respond better to the asynchronous communication style used in discussions and email--this increases overall participation in the course.
