TOURISM AND OIL Preparing for the Challenge

Susanne Becken

At last, a measured and realistic appraisal of tourism in the future in relation to the availability or otherwise of oil. This book is essential reading for anyone and everyone seriously interested in the future of tourism in an age of oil scarcity.

RICHARD BUTLER, EMERITUS PROFESSOR, UNIVERSITY OF STRATHCLYDE, UK

This book is the first to examine oil constraints and tourism and addresses one of the key challenges for the tourism industry in the future. It provides an estimate of how much oil tourism consumes globally and summarises state-of-the-art information on oil resources, oil data and public discourse. It also explores key dimensions of tourism in a post-peak oil world, including the role of renewable energy sources, transport systems, tourist experiences, and low-carbon destinations.

TOURISM AND HUMOUR

Philip L. Pearce and Anja Pabel

This pioneering work opens the eyes to the manifold and often surprising links between humor and tourism. Departing from some basic theories of humor, it brings together in a highly readable form the many contemporary perspectives in psychology to the study of humor, and illustrates their deployment by a wealth of examples from manifold sources.

ERIK COHEN, THE HEBREW UNIVERSITY OF JERUSALEM, ISRAEL

This book is dedicated to the advancement of knowledge about humour in all kinds of tourism settings. It discusses the many ways in which humour can occur during tourism exchanges including guided tours, tourism marketing and promotion and travel narratives.

URBAN DESTINATION MARKETING IN CONTEMPORARY EUROPE

Uniting Theory and Practice

John Heeley

This well-written book is a great contribution especially to any master program in the field of marketing and tourism. Lecturers will appreciate the richness of examples and practical insights.

MIKE PETERS, MANAGEMENT CENTER INNSBRUCK, AUSTRIA

This book aims to unite theory and practice in the field of destination marketing. It attempts to reconcile the gap between the academic literature on urban destination marketing and the manner in which it is actually undertaken by destination marketing organisations (DMOs).

TOURISM AND DEVELOPMENT

Concepts and Issues

2nd Edition

Edited by Richard Sharpley and David J. Telfer

Building on the successful first edition, chapters on such topics as poverty reduction, heritage, climate change and human rights have been added and the result is a well-structured debate within a clear conceptual framework. This book is now a classic and should be required reading for anyone with a serious interest in international tourism's role in 'development.'

DAVID HARRISON, UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH PACIFIC, FIJI

This book explores and challenges the relationship between tourism and development and establishes a conceptual link between the discrete yet interconnected disciplines of tourism studies and development studies. This new edition includes fully updated chapters drawing on contemporary knowledge as well as five new chapters that consider emergent themes in the study of tourism and development.

INDUSTRIAL HERITAGE TOURISM

Philip Feifan Xie

This book provides a framework and exemplary case studies that provides a synthesis and also provokes new ideas for the understanding and conceptualisation for those researching temporal changes and industrial landscapes. This is a great introduction to industrial heritage for students of cultural, heritage and tourism studies.

KEVIN HANNAM, LEEDS BECKETT UNIVERSITY, UK

This book examines the complex interplay between industrial heritage and tourism. It serves to stimulate meaningful dialogue about the socioeconomic values of industrial sites and the use of tourism for the growth of the creative economy.
